

Volunteer Guide 2020

Dear Volunteer!

This guide contains practical information about the Danish Cancer Society annual fundraising collection. There is more information about the fundraising collection in Danish here: www.indsamling.dk. The fundraising collection takes place Sunday, August 16th 2020.

You sign up at the website www.indsamling.dk (the website is in Danish).

How is the fundraising collection organized?

The collection is organized locally. You will be given a route to follow and you must contact all of the homes on your route – and only those homes.

You will receive the following materials for your route

A donation jar with a sticker containing your name and route number.
Folders for each home on your route and half as many payment slips.
A bag to carry folders and payment slips (you are welcome to keep the bag after the collection).

Infection prevention – Covid-19

We follow the Danish health authorities' recommendation to prevent infection when collecting. Therefore, you will receive a sanitizer with alcohol to bring along the route. Please keep the allowed distance, which is one meter.

Please note – folders and payment slips

- Remember to give everyone a folder – both those who contribute and those who are not home. Everyone should be given a folder because it contains important information on different ways to donate and shows how we use the donations.
- If nobody is home, give a payment slip in addition to the folder.
- Remember to put both the folder and payment slip all the way into the mailbox or mail slot, so people cannot see that no one is home.

"The happy contributor"

The happy contributor makes a donation voluntarily, without feeling any pressure and does not regret it afterwards. Always respect a no, and do not cross the doorway unless you are invited to. We say thank you to all donations no matter how much is given.

"Reklamer – Nej Tak" og "Reklamer og gratisaviser – Nej Tak" (‘No advertisements’ stickers)

A sticker saying "Ingen reklamer - tak" or "Ingen reklamer og gratisaviser – tak" applies to advertisements distributed by mail. Folders and payment slips are not advertisements, nor are they distributed by mail. Likewise, The Danish Cancer Society is not subject to the Danish Law on Marketing. You are therefore allowed to deliver a folder and payment slip to homes that have one of the above mentioned stickers on their door.

"We don't have any cash"

The folder describes other ways of contributing, for example by text messages (sms) or via the smart phone app MobilePay. Information is printed on the donation jar.

Fundraising permit at train and bus stations

A special permit is needed if your route includes asking for donations at train, bus or metro stations. You can get the permits from your local organizer (in Danish).

Smoking

Please do not smoke while you are on your route.

When you have finished your route

When you have finished your route, go to the address of the counting site that you received along with your route and donation jar. Deliver your donation jar here, where it will be counted.

Insurance

While you are on your route, you are covered by the Danish Cancer Society's insurance police. You are also covered if your donation jar is stolen from you. If you are injured contact the local organizer of the fundraising collection.

If you are injured by a dog or a car, your injury is covered by the dog/car owner's insurance policy. Contact the owner and get the following information: Name, address and insurance company. Write down the name and address of any witnesses.

Volunteers under the age of 18

Volunteers between 13-18 years are only allowed to participate in the fundraising collection if they walk two together on the route or with an adult. Children under the age of 13 can only participate with an adult.

Are you prevented from participating

We are counting on you – please contact your local organizer if you are unable to participate.

More information

Contact your local organizer or call the Danish Cancer Society at 3525 7500 or visit the Danish site: www.indsamling.dk

Would you like to help the Danish Cancer Society in the future?

If you would like to help the Danish Cancer Society in the future, talk to the local organizer of the fundraising collection. There is also information on our website (in Danish): www.frivillig.dk.

We hope to see you again at next year's fundraising collection.

Thank you for your help – enjoy your route!
